The two moms who came carrying their children who weighed over 60 pounds each to get a wheelchair was very humbling and impactful, too. Of course, God had just the chair that each needed so they left with lighter loads and happier hearts.

For our team of eleven, our free day of zip lining through the jungle and tubing through a river cave was a fun memory to end our trip together.

I have to tell you that Belize is definitely still a third world country and while our outreach is in the more developed areas of Belize, over 40% of the people there are still without electricity and over 60% of the people have no water. This is to say nothing of the fact that there is very little medical care in the country as most people there go to Guatemala to find the health care they need. There are even less mobility items and medical supplies available. If they do happen to find anything it is so astronomically priced and out of their reach given the low standard of wages and unavailability of consistent work. So when thinking about Belize, please lift up your prayers that God will continue to send workers to share His Gospel and help meet the needs there by God's grace and mercy and all in Jesus's name. :-)

Finally, as our container from Texas did not arrive there until just recently we are planning another mission trip and outreach to the Hearts of Christ facility and Roaring Creek, Belize this coming April. So please be praying for God to stir the hearts and minds of His people to answer His call and minister to the many in need that we still have to serve there. TEAMWORK MAKES THE DREAM WORK!
